You've taken your photos and they are saved on your iPhone in a typical folder structure, What's Next?

Share via iCloud

Deleted photos are gone, how do I retrieve them?

Look in deleted photos folder

Start archiving, iCloud is backup

Archive via Google Drive (or Onedrive), maintains folder structure

Also archive via Google Photos – Chronological archive

Chronological

The image shows a screenshot of the Google Photos web interface. The browser's address bar displays "photos.google.com". The Google Photos header includes the logo and navigation icons. A vertical sidebar on the left contains icons for home, search, library, share, star, and grid. The main content area is a grid of photo thumbnails, each showing an audio spectrogram. The thumbnails are arranged chronologically, with years 2024, 2023, 2022, 2021, 2020, 2019, 2018, 2017, and Dec 2015 visible on the right side. The spectrograms show blue waveforms on a dark background, with a white frequency axis. The interface also includes a top navigation bar with icons for download, search, star, camera, album, and share, and a user profile icon labeled "Ed".

Set up iCloud on your Mac

Learn how to sign in to iCloud and choose your settings.

1. Use the latest version of macOS

For the best experience, make sure that your device meets the minimum system requirements for iCloud.

Learn how to update to the latest version of macOS.

2. Sign in to iCloud

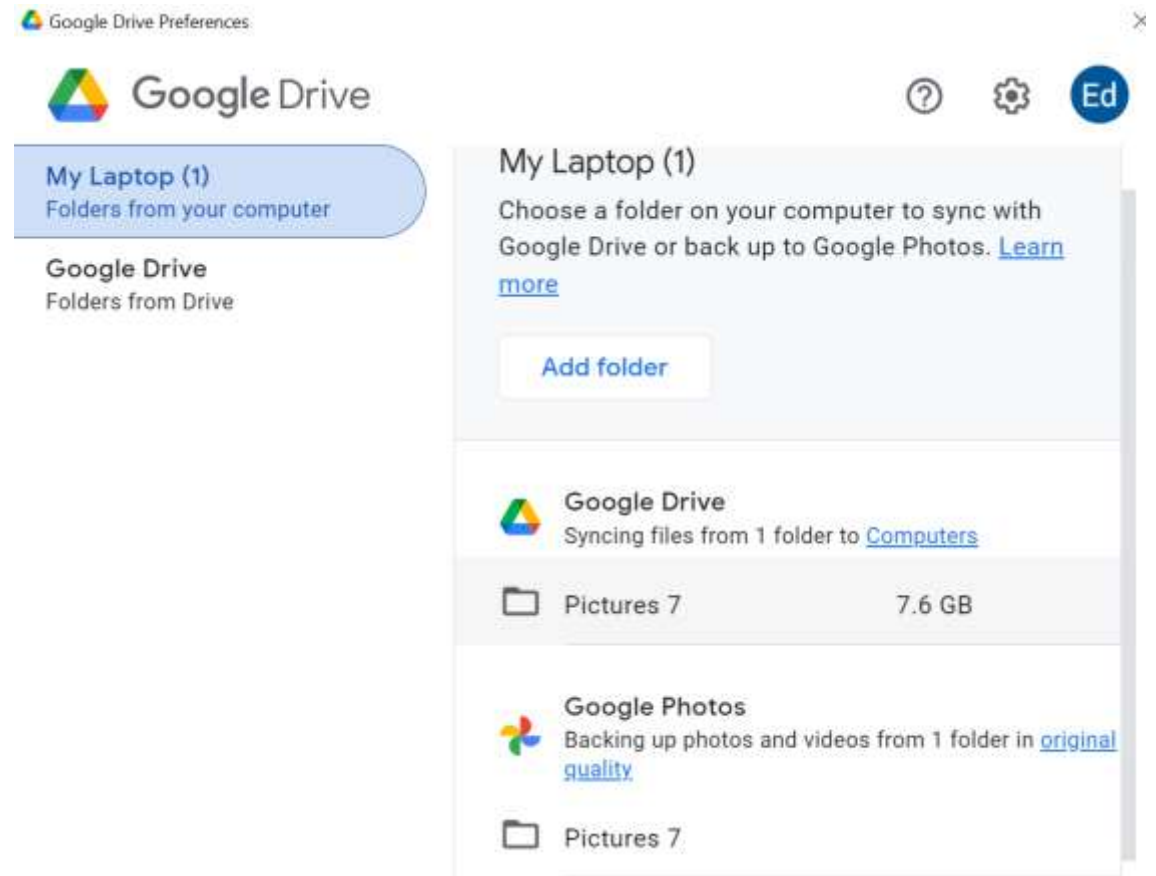

Choose Apple menu > System Settings. At the top of the sidebar, click Sign in with your Apple ID. In macOS Catalina or earlier, choose Apple menu > System Preferences, then click Sign in with your Apple ID and password. When you sign in, iCloud is turned on automatically.

If you're already signed in to iCloud, you see your name at the top of the side panel or at the top of the window.

3. Customize your iCloud settings

Choose Apple menu > System Settings, click your name at the top of the sidebar, then click iCloud. In macOS Catalina or earlier, choose Apple menu > System Preferences, click Apple ID, then choose iCloud in the sidebar. Choose the apps — like Notes, Photos, and iCloud Drive — that you want to use with iCloud. You may need to click Show All, Show More Apps, or scroll down to see all of the options. Then click Sync This Mac or Turn on.
